Jenny Nohelty from The Washington Policy Institute shared, "We are working together and harnessing our combined knowledge, faith, and convictions to provide valuable information on pressing faith issues to implement necessary changes for the betterment of society, both locally and across the world."

Following the success of our recent panel on Christian persecution at the Museum of the Bible, the Washington Policy Institute is pleased to announce the launch of a monthly Breakfast Club roundtable.

Our goal is to foster open discussions on pressing cultural issues affecting freedom, faith, and family so that citizens can make informed decisions about their communities, nations, and the world. Topics will include media censorship, human trafficking, mental health, cyberbullying, Christian persecution, and more.

The series is designed to convene influential newsmakers, policymakers, and senior leaders from Capitol Hill and the White House, providing a trusted forum for candid dialogue and collaborative insight.

The Washington Policy Institute encourages, equips, and empowers journalists and student journalists to discover, describe, and document issues and events affecting freedom, faith, and family, enabling individuals to make informed decisions about their community, nation, and world.

Great American Media is home to a family-friendly portfolio of brands, including Great American Family, Great American Pure Flix and Great American Faith & Living. Great American Media was established in June 2021 by Bill Abbott and a group of U.S.-based family offices.
