This recognition reflects the intentional culture our people have built and the standard we hold ourselves to as a technology organization supporting national security missions.”

Tony Crescenzo, CEO

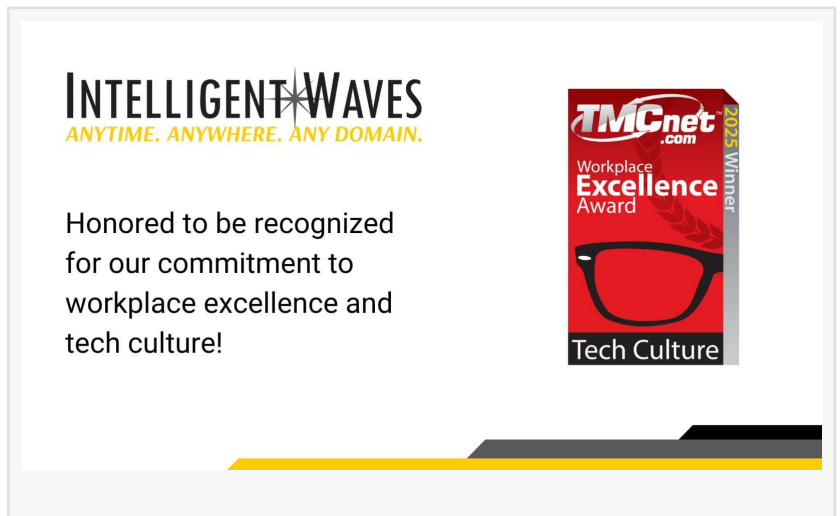

Launched in 2015, the TMCnet Workplace Excellence Awards for Tech Culture highlight companies that cultivate outstanding environments for collaboration, innovation, recruitment, retention, and overall employee well-being. Winners are selected based on a comprehensive evaluation of their culture initiatives, benefits, leadership vision, and programs that empower employees to grow and succeed.

Tony Crescenzo, CEO of Intelligent Waves, said, “We are honored to receive the 2025 TMCnet Tech Culture Award,” said Tony Crescenzo, CEO of Intelligent Waves. “Strong technology culture does not happen by accident. It is built on trust, a clear mission, and an environment that encourages technical teams to think critically, collaborate openly, and take ownership of outcomes. This recognition reflects the intentional culture our people have built and the standard we hold ourselves to as a technology organization supporting national security missions.”
