

Cohen Cleary Promotes Three Attorneys to Partner

daRosa, Masterson, and Smola take on larger leadership and client roles within the firm

TAUNTON, MA, UNITED STATES, January 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cohen Cleary, P.C., has promoted three attorneys to partner. Laura daRosa, Shawn Masterson and Kristin Smola will step into the roles as the firm responds to increased demands for its services and plans for long-term growth. The promotions strengthen the firm's ability to serve clients across Massachusetts and reflect each attorney's work and commitment to the practice.

"These promotions recognize attorneys who have grown with the firm and consistently delivered for our clients," said Amber Cohen, partner at Cohen Cleary. "Each has earned this step through their work ethic, judgment and commitment to the people we represent."

Laura daRosa has built her practice at Cohen Cleary focusing on family law, litigation and fiduciary matters. Her work includes divorce, custody and support cases, as well as representing clients in contested legal matters and fiduciary-related issues. She works closely with individuals and families navigating complex legal situations that often involve long-term planning and responsibility.

Shawn Masterson concentrates on civil litigation, family law and bankruptcy issues. He represents clients in a range of disputes and proceedings in courts across Massachusetts. His work includes managing litigation strategy, advising clients through financial and family-related legal matters and supporting cases from initial filings through resolution.

Kristin Smola focuses primarily on guardianships and conservatorships. She works with families, caregivers, and other interested parties on matters involving the protection and management of personal and financial affairs. Her practice centers on guiding clients through sensitive proceedings that require careful attention to legal obligations and individual circumstances.

“Our approach has always been to develop talent from within, and our clients benefit most when we invest in experienced attorneys who understand their needs,” said Thomas Cleary, partner at Cohen Cleary. “Laura, Shawn and Kristin have each developed their practice over time and shown they are ready to take on the broader responsibilities that come with partnership.”
