A new Chamber member benefit gives businesses access to professional video production support without building an in house team.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, January 10, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The People's Chamber of Commerce today announced the launch of a professional video production benefit designed for Chamber members who are ready to expand their visibility and grow their businesses.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Through this benefit, Chamber members gain direct access to the Chamber's video production team and professional experience. The program allows business owners to produce high quality commercial video without having to hire in house staff, build a production department, or manage complex technical processes on their own.

Most businesses fail not because they lack talent or drive. They fail because they are building alone. The Chamber brings people together, shares resources, and creates real support for businesses.”

The Chamber introduced the video production benefit in response to how businesses are currently discovered and evaluated. Customers increasingly rely on online search, social media, and video content to learn about products and services. At the same time, automated and AI influenced platforms now determine which businesses are seen, recommended, and shared. Businesses without a clear and professional video presence often struggle to gain visibility, regardless of the quality of their offering.

“Most business owners are operating without a team,” said Sharifah Hardie, Founder of The People's Chamber of Commerce. “They are doing marketing, operations, and growth on their own. This benefit gives our members access to people, experience, and support that helps them move forward.”

As a Chamber member benefit, the program provides guided access to an experienced video production team, supporting members through planning, creative development, filming, editing, and final delivery. The benefit eliminates the need for members to build in house production teams, manage external vendors, or spend significant time navigating complex production processes independently. The goal is to help businesses communicate clearly and professionally without the burden of learning specialized skills, managing technical details, or attempting to produce professional results without alone.

The initiative reflects the Chamber’s broader mission to build strong business communities through the power of people. By sharing resources, experience, and expertise, the Chamber supports individual business growth while strengthening the collective community.

“When businesses grow, communities grow,” Hardie said. “By working together and sharing resources, everyone wins.”
