PRESS RELEASE

2026 Leaders In Supply Chain Awards - Call for Nominations

The virtual awards ceremony will take place in September 2026.

“

The Leaders in Supply Chain Awards are more than recognition, they're a catalyst for learning, collaboration, and inspiration across industries”

*Radu Palamariu, Group CEO,
Alcott Global*

“The Leaders in Supply Chain Awards are more than recognition. They're a catalyst for learning, collaboration, and inspiration across industries,” said Radu Palamariu, Group CEO at Alcott Global.

Nominations are open until February 28, 2026. Candidates must:

- Hold regional or global roles for at least 18 months
- Have end-to-end supply chain responsibility
- Work at a manufacturing company generating over USD 500M in annual revenue

Nominees will be invited to submit a case study covering:

- Strategic clarity in supply chain transformation
- Measurable digital and sustainability outcomes
- Organizational impact and leadership development

A distinguished jury of global executives and academics will evaluate the entries (75% of total score). Final rankings will include peer voting from 2,000+ C-level supply chain leaders worldwide (25%).

The 2025 Awards drew 338 nominees from 280 companies across 30 countries, marking a record-breaking year. This momentum continues into April 2026, when three of the Top 5 awardees and selected jury members from the 2025 edition will speak live at Makers & Movers, sharing real-world lessons on leadership and transformation.

This year's theme for the Awards, "Connecting the Dots," emphasizes the real work behind great supply chains: linking strategy with execution, talent with results, and decisions with long-term value.

Nominations are now open for the 2026 edition. The journey to spotlighting the Top 30 Supply Chain Leaders of 2026 starts here: <https://gala.makersmovers.com/>
