

'Little Edna's War' Uncovers a Wartime Story of a Jewish Girl's Survival and Resistance

A new memoir reveals the true story of a Jewish child in the Warsaw Ghetto and the Polish Resistance.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, January 12, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On January 27, 2026 – International Holocaust Remembrance Day – Little Edna's War by Janet Bond Brill, PhD, delivers a harrowing account of Jewish childhood during the Holocaust under Nazi terror. Written in first person and drawn from more than five hours of testimony recorded by the USC Shoah Foundation, Little Edna's War preserves a life that intersected with the defining events of the Holocaust and World War II.

Already recognized by BookLife Reviews as an Editor's Pick and Highly Recommended by Midwest Book Review, the memoir traces the survival of Edna Szurek, a young Jewish girl born at Mila 18 - the address that would later become the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising's legendary command bunker.

Dr. Michael Berenbaum, one of the world's preeminent Holocaust scholars and former Project Director of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, provides the foreword, calling it "A haunting and beautifully rendered memoir that ensures the voices of survivors will never fade into silence."

Disguised as a Catholic child after escaping the Warsaw Ghetto, Edna became the youngest known member of the Polish Home Army at age 9. By 12, Pope Pius XII decorated her for bravery assisting the Polish Resistance, never knowing his "Catholic war hero" was actually a Jewish child in hiding.

The Polish resistance recruited nine-year-old Edna as a courier, sending her through sewers and sniper-patrolled streets with messages that could mean life or death. Her courage earned medals and that papal audience, the ultimate irony of her hidden identity.

She survived armed underground combat, the Wola Massacre, and capture as a prisoner of war. She was imprisoned at Oberlangen, the only all-female POW camp in Nazi Germany, before being liberated in April 1945 by the Polish 1st Armoured Division under British command.

This deeply personal project grew from Brill's 37-year relationship with her mother-in-law and fills a crucial gap in Holocaust history.

"This isn't just another Holocaust memoir. It's one for the history books," says author Janet Bond Brill, PhD.

"Survivors like my mother-in-law are leaving us. I wrote this because our children face a world where denial and antisemitism are rising. Edna's story proves that one little girl's courage defeated Hitler's Final Solution."
