This election exemplifies the strength of local representation where residents vote for a water commissioner to manage and protect their drinking water and resources.”

NSWCA President Michael E. Mazzola

NSWCA President and Massapequa Water District Commissioner Michael E. Mazzola commented on the election results stating, “This election of a water commissioner within local districts exemplifies the strength of local representation where residents vote for a commissioner who resides in their respective community to manage and protect their drinking water and resources. It's my pleasure to welcome all our new and returning members and colleagues to the Nassau Suffolk Water Commissioners' Association for 2026.”

Voter-elected, commissioner-run districts (21 in total) provide water to over 620,000 consumers in Nassau and Suffolk counties.
