The listing emphasizes long-term clinical consistency, professional visibility, and peer recognition rather than competitive ranking or award-based evaluation.

Peer-Survey-Based Editorial Listing

According to the editorial note accompanying the feature, the Eminent Doctors South 2025 list was developed through a peer survey of consultant doctors across Southern India, followed by editorial curation. Due to space constraints, only a select number of clinicians were included in each specialty for this commemorative edition.

This approach aims to offer readers an informed overview of practicing specialists who have demonstrated sustained engagement in their respective fields.

Being featured in an editorial listing like this reflects the value of consistent clinical practice, peer engagement, and patient-centered neurosurgical care over time.”
