streamline customer experience, strengthen local service networks, and enhance the value each brand provides in communities across the country.

As both organizations continue to expand rapidly, franchise owners have already begun establishing local relationships to better serve homeowners dealing with water damage, restoration needs, and the resulting drywall repairs and painting services. The new referral partnership formalizes this growing alignment and provides a consistent framework for collaboration across both systems.

“As PatchMaster continues to grow, we're constantly looking for ways to deliver more value to homeowners and support our franchisees with strong, reputable partners,” said Paul Ferrara, President and CEO, PatchMaster. “Our new partnership with All Dry Services represents an exciting opportunity to align two complementary service brands. We anticipate this collaboration will empower franchisees, strengthen local service networks, and create a smoother experience for customers nationwide.”

Through this partnership, All Dry franchisees will be able to confidently refer customers to PatchMaster for seamless drywall repair and professional paint finishing, restoring affected areas as if the damage never occurred once mitigation or restoration work is complete. In turn, PatchMaster locations will connect customers to All Dry when homeowners require fast, professional support for water damage or related emergencies. Together, the two brands are creating a smoother, more complete customer journey, helping homeowners move from disaster to beautifully restored spaces, while enabling franchise owners in both systems to grow their local networks and expand service opportunities.

“Our goal has always been to deliver peace of mind during stressful home emergencies,” said Pete Waxman, CEO, All Dry Services. “By partnering with PatchMaster, we see tremendous potential to strengthen that promise. Once implemented, this referral program will give franchisees on both sides an excellent resource for providing complete, start-to-finish support to homeowners.”

PatchMaster and All Dry Services believe this partnership will create lasting value for customers and franchise owners alike. The companies expect the referral program to strengthen their national service ecosystems, support local business growth, and reinforce both brands’ dedication to quality, professionalism, and customer care.
