

Forwardly Launches Partner Certification Program for Accounting and Finance Professionals

Forwardly Referral Partners can now get certified, earn a public badge, and unlock higher referral rewards.

SACRAMENTO, CA, UNITED STATES,
January 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Forwardly, the modern AP/AR platform for high-growth businesses and accountants, today announced the launch of its new Forwardly Partner Certification Program, expanding its referral partner offering with formal training, public recognition, and increased rewards for accounting and finance professionals.

Our referral partners are one of the most important ways new businesses discover Forwardly. This program is about recognizing that expertise, making it visible, and rewarding partners.”

Nick Chandi, CEO & Co-Founder of Forwardly

The new program enables accountants, bookkeepers, CFOs, and financial professionals to become Forwardly Certified Partners by completing a short certification exam or attending a live training session. Certified Partners receive a public digital badge to showcase on LinkedIn and their websites, along with enhanced referral rewards, including additional bonuses for every verified business referred to Forwardly.

“Our referral partners are one of the most important ways new businesses discover Forwardly,” said Nick Chandi, CEO

& Co-Founder of Forwardly. “This program is about recognizing that expertise, making it visible, and rewarding partners who invest the time to really understand how to help their clients succeed with Forwardly.”

The Forwardly Partner Certification Program is free to join and built with flexibility in mind. Partners can complete certification through live training sessions or an on-demand exam, making it easy to participate regardless of schedule. The expanded partner program reflects Forwardly’s ongoing commitment to empowering accounting and finance professionals with modern tools, practical education, and meaningful incentives that grow alongside their practices.

The screenshot displays the Forwardly dashboard for a user named Ben. The interface includes a sidebar with navigation icons for Home, Add, Get Help, and Settings. The main content area features a 'Welcome, Ben' header with a referral link. Below this, there are several sections: 'Things To Do' with a task to verify a bank account; 'Bills' showing a due date of 7 days; 'Bank Balance' for a checking account at $21,928.12; 'Payments' with a line graph showing a recent payment of $250K; and 'Recent Payments' listing transactions from Paunch Burger, Tom's Stone, JJ's Diner, Entertainment 720, and Paunch Burger with their respective dates and amounts.

Stay on top of your business finances with a real-time overview of payments, cash flow, and upcoming tasks.

The badge is a white rectangle with rounded corners, featuring the Forwardly logo (a stylized 'F' made of orange and yellow triangles) on the right side. The text 'Forwardly' is in a large, bold, black font, and 'Certified Partner' is in a smaller, gray font below it.

Become a Forwardly Certified Partner and get a public certification badge for your website or email signature.
