

Herman Law Expands New York Office, Enhancing Survivor-Focused Advocacy

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, January 22, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Herman Law, the nation's leading law firm exclusively representing survivors of childhood sexual abuse, marked the opening of its New York office expansion with a gathering focused on survivor advocacy, thoughtful preparation and ongoing attorney education to support those seeking justice.

The expansion is driven by an increase in inquiries to the firm, which is both a sobering reflection of widespread abuse and a transformative opportunity to bring healing and justice to those reaching out for support. At a moment when child sexual abuse is becoming more apparent in the public eye, an uptick in inquiries continues to fuel the Herman Law team's relentless pursuit of justice for every survivor, starting with the expansion of their resources.

As we expand our presence in New York, we remain focused on ensuring our attorneys are equipped to advocate for survivors with both sensitivity and strength.”

“Our responsibility is to approach every case with care, preparation and respect for the individuals who have entrusted us with their stories,” said Jeff Herman, founder and managing attorney at Herman Law. “As we expand our presence in New York, we remain focused on ensuring our attorneys are equipped to advocate for survivors with both sensitivity and strength.”

The firm's New York expansion event brought together Herman Law attorneys for focused training on jury selection, known as voir dire. This training was not a one-time initiative, but part of Herman Law's continuous investment in education, preparation and trauma-informed trial strategy. As more survivors find the courage to come forward and seek accountability from perpetrators, the firm remains
