UK-based organisations can now leverage Arete's in-house team of experts to meet regulatory requirements quickly and confidently.

BOCA RATON, FL, UNITED STATES, January 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Arete proudly

Arete is committed to helping organizations turn complexity into clarity during critical moments.”

Mark Brannigan, Regional Sales Director, UK & EMEA

announces the expansion of its industry-leading Data Mining and Document Review services to the United Kingdom. This offering enables organisations to quickly, confidently, and cost-effectively meet regulatory requirements after a cyber incident.

With deep experience in global privacy regulations, incident response, and large-scale data review, Arete’s specialized, in-house Data Mining team has helped thousands of organisations navigate complex data incidents and compliance challenges. Arete leverages cutting-edge technology specifically designed to minimize data volume, identify and extract sensitive personal data, and accelerate review time, resulting in faster, lower-cost outcomes for clients.

A key benefit is Arete’s transparent, predictable per-document pricing, which gives clients confidence and peace of mind to support critical decision-making and creates greater cost certainty and more accurate outcomes.
