

iWallet Introduces In App Work Warranties for Contractors

iWallet launched iWallet Warranty, a new in-app feature that lets contractors sell and manage work warranties at job closeout.

SAN FRANCISCO , CA, UNITED STATES, January 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- iWallet today announced iWallet Warranty, a new feature that lets contractors offer and sell work warranties directly inside the iWallet app. The product is built for contractors, builders, and HVAC professionals who want a simple way to add post job coverage, keep documentation in one place, and get paid without chasing paperwork.

For contractors, the workflow is meant to fit the moment a job ends. At closeout, the contractor can present warranty options in app, capture customer acceptance, and generate a warranty certificate that stays attached to the job record. For homeowners, the warranty lives in the same place as the original job details, making it easier to confirm what is covered and what to do if service is needed later.

“Contractors live on trust and follow through,” said Jim Kolchin, CEO of iWallet. “A warranty is part of that promise. This keeps the record clean for both sides, and it makes the warranty offer a normal part of finishing the job.”

iWallet Warranty is available now to eligible contractor accounts.
