About Bucharest, Romania

Bucharest is the capital and largest city of Romania, a major political, economic, and cultural center in southeastern Europe. Bucharest is a safe, affordable (very affordable for British, French, German, Canadian and American travelers), walkable and fascinating city destination with a mix of tree-lined boulevards, magnificent churches, glorious Belle Époque buildings (giving the city its nickname of "Little Paris"), wonderful parks, communist-era architecture, and a compact historic center that is easy to explore in 2–3 days. The city has a metro system, buses, and ride hailing; many central sights are within walking distance if you stay near Old Town or Calea Victoriei. It works well both as a standalone city trip and as a base for day tours to castles (Peleș Castle in Sinaia, Bran Castle) and medieval towns (Brasov and Sibiu) in the nearby Carpathian region.
