Every day we continue to work towards helping our clients achieve their energy risk management goals, knowing that their success leads to ours.”

John Vassallo

Founded in 1990 by John Vassallo and Dennis Weinmann, Coquest Inc. drew on the founders’ experience on the New York Mercantile Exchange to establish itself as a leading energy brokerage and consulting firm. Coquest has since grown to become a trusted partner for a diverse clientele, ranging from energy producers and consumers to financial institutions.

From John Vassallo: “It is very hard to believe that Coquest was founded 36 years ago! When Dennis Weinmann and I started Coquest we were focused on the next month more so than building a company for the long term. I’m really proud of what we have accomplished over such a long period of time along with our employees, and our very loyal clients. Every day we continue to work towards helping our clients achieve their energy risk management goals, knowing that their success leads to ours. I’m looking forward to another great year for Coquest..”

As the company commemorates yet another significant milestone, Coquest reaffirms its dedication to driving success for its clients and continuing its legacy of excellence, growth, and innovation in the energy brokerage and advisory space.
