

Houzeo Reveals Ohio's Best Places to Live in 2026 Using Data-Backed Rankings

This latest list delivers clear comparisons of livability, housing costs, and lifestyle factors across Ohio cities.

COLUMBUS, OH, UNITED STATES, February 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Houzeo, America's best home buying and selling website, announced the launch of its new "Best Places to Live" landing pages. The rankings highlight the top 10 Ohio cities based on housing affordability, income alignment, and economic strength. This helps homebuyers make more informed decisions about locations.

Houzeo's Best Places rankings are built on a solid, data-driven foundation. Instead of relying on subjective livability scores, Houzeo analyzes cities using reliable economic and housing datasets. This includes employment figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, cost-of-living data from C2ER, and median home prices, average rent, and income statistics from Houzeo's own housing data and the U.S. Census Bureau.

Dublin ranks as the top city due to its growing job market, affordable housing, and vibrant cultural scene. With a median home price of $612K and a median rent of $2,100, this city offers a perfect mix of urban amenities and suburban charm, making it an ideal destination for families, young professionals, and retirees alike.

Other high-ranking cities, such as Delaware are priced at $350K, Worthington at $450K, and Hudson at $535K in median home prices. These cities have secured top positions in the rankings, supported by strong school systems, stable housing demand, and access to major employment centers.
