

Introducing Jobbortunity, the new AI-powered Job Search Tool

Jobbortunity's predictive AI-enabled search saves companies and jobseekers time

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, March 8, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jobbortunity.com has launched a new job-search platform that uses predictive AI to identify companies actively hiring — independent of posted job listings — and directs candidates to apply directly on company career sites. The service aims to solve rampant inefficiencies in the modern job market caused by artificial-intelligence-driven resume volume, stale and fake postings, and opaque applicant funnels.

Jobbortunity.com gives the information advantage to the jobseeker”
Jeffery Carnevale

“The job market is broken: New technology has enabled automated resume generation and mass job applications, and qualified candidates are often lost in the first hundred applicants,” said Jeffery Carnevale, Co-Founder & CEO of Jobbortunity. “Jobbortunity flips the script by using signal-driven intelligence to surface real opportunities where companies truly need talent.”

Key features and benefits:

- Predictive AI identifies companies likely to be hiring now or in the near future by analyzing hiring signals such as news, public reports, press releases, contracts, and other indicators.
- Proprietary scoring ranks “opportunity strength” so jobseekers focus on the most promising targets before roles are posted elsewhere.
- Direct application links to company career sites — studies show candidates who apply directly are up to 23 times more likely to be hired.
- LinkedIn integrations (when available) help applicants see potential internal connections to boost referral opportunities.

Market problems Jobbortunity addresses:

Surge in resume submissions due to AI, creating saturation on job boards.

Up to 40% of posted jobs may be fake; up to 70% of postings remain stale (30+ days), wasting jobseekers' time.

Candidates must often be among the first hundred applicants on fresh, legitimate postings to get noticed.

About Jobbortunity

Jobbortunity.com is a technology-driven job discovery platform that leverages predictive AI and proprietary data aggregation to connect jobseekers with real, high-probability hiring opportunities. By directing applicants to company career sites and surfacing internal connections, Jobbortunity improves efficiency for both employers and candidates.
