The Inspiring Others distinction celebrates more than personal achievement. It recognizes leadership through influence. Recipients are known for modeling what is possible, sharing hard-earned insights, and motivating others to invest in their own growth. Kayla exemplifies this spirit by consistently encouraging peers to pursue PMP certification as a catalyst for confidence, credibility, and career advancement.

People choose Cheetah FAST for passing their PMP exam as slow is expensive.”

Founder Cheetah Learning*

Kayla completed Cheetah Learning's accelerated PMP exam preparation program in 2018 and passed the PMP exam on her first attempt. Since earning her certification, she has leveraged her PMP to strengthen her impact across complex, high-stakes environments while serving as a trusted mentor to colleagues considering the credential.

"Earning the PMP can feel intimidating until you see someone you respect do it successfully and then openly encourage you to take the leap," said a spokesperson for Cheetah Learning. "Kayla has done exactly that. She has inspired others not by telling them what to do, but by showing them what is possible and supporting them along the way."

Inspiring Others is about multiplying impact. By encouraging peers to apply PMP practices, Kayla has helped colleagues build structured thinking, shared language, and professional confidence that extends far beyond passing a single exam. Many of those she has influenced have gone on to strengthen their own career trajectories, contributing to stronger teams and more effective project outcomes.

Cheetah Learning's Distinguished Alum program recognizes individuals who embody the organization's mission to create faster learners, stronger leaders, and lasting professional impact. Kayla's recognition highlights the powerful ripple effect that occurs when certified professionals actively lift others as they advance.
