“In founding M2A Academy, our goal is to bring the same high standards, disciplined training approach, and professional culture that made Mil2ATP a trusted name in military pilot transition,” said Christopher Kreske, President of Mil2ATP. “We believe in building confident, capable civilian aviators who are ready to move into commercial flying careers with a strong foundation.”

M2A Academy will offer a full suite of civilian flight training programs, from Private Pilot certificate through Commercial, Instrument, and Certified Flight Instructor ratings, with pathways designed to guide students toward professional flying careers and airline readiness. The Academy will draw on the instructional expertise and structured training methodologies that have been hallmarks of Mil2ATP's success.

"Expanding our operations to serve the civilian community through M2A Academy is a natural extension of our mission to improve pilot development across all backgrounds," added Kreske. "Civilian students will benefit from professional standards, rigorous curricula, and mentorship opportunities that are rooted in real-world aviation experience."

The establishment of M2A Academy allows Mil2ATP to maintain its core focus on military aviators and specialized airline transport pilot readiness programs while supporting a distinct civilian training brand with dedicated resources, programming, and student engagement.
