Kendra Bradshaw, Program Manager, added, "This program is designed to give students the confidence and skills they need to succeed in healthcare. We're excited to bring this opportunity to Tempe and support students as they take the next step toward rewarding medical careers."

The new campus will be located at 1006 E Guadalupe Rd, Tempe, AZ, and will offer a 18-week medical assistant program that blends online coursework with in-person lab training and clinical experience inside an active healthcare practice. Graduates will be prepared to pursue certification and begin entry-level roles in clinics, physician offices, and outpatient healthcare settings.

Phoenix Medical Assistant School has partnered with Texan Allergy LLC (Aspire Allergy & Sinus – Tempe) to provide students with hands-on training in a real clinical environment. Through this partnership, students will gain experience in patient intake, allergy testing support, clinical procedures, and day-to-day healthcare operations under the guidance of experienced professionals.

“Opening campuses in high-growth areas like Tempe allows us to meet healthcare workforce demand while expanding access to affordable education,” said Chris Lofton, CEO of Zollege. “Our hands-on training model ensures students graduate ready to contribute from day one.”
