

Iron Age Footwear Launches Limited-Time Sock Collab with Skunk Skin

Iron Age Footwear and Skunk Skin are introducing an odor-controlling work sock designed for blue-collar professionals who spend long hours in safety footwear.

ST. LOUIS, MO, UNITED STATES, February 5, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Iron Age Footwear has announced a limited-time collaboration with Skunk Skin (<https://www.skunkskin.com/IRONAGE>), introducing an odor-controlling work sock designed for blue-collar professionals who spend long hours in safety footwear.

For a limited period, customers who purchase footwear on IronAgeFootwear.com will receive a complimentary pair of Iron Age x Skunk Skin collaboration socks, while supplies last. The collaboration is limited to 2,500 pairs.

The socks are engineered to help neutralize odor-causing bacteria commonly associated with prolonged wear in steel-toe footwear. Feet sweat more than any other part of the body, creating an environment where bacteria and odor can develop quickly. The Iron Age x Skunk Skin socks are designed to address odor at the source without the use of sprays or chemical treatments.

Constructed to withstand steel-toe wear, the socks feature reinforced zones for durability, moisture management, and all-day comfort in demanding work environments.

The collaboration aligns with Iron Age's focus on providing practical solutions for workers across construction, manufacturing, and industrial trades.

The Iron Age x Skunk Skin socks are available for a limited time, free with purchase, exclusively at
