NEW YORK , NY, UNITED STATES, February 5, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- FENIX360, the revolutionary artist-centric platform reshaping how musicians connect, earn, and thrive, officially makes its UK debut in London on Wednesday, February 11 at 8:00 PM at the iconic Pheasantry, 152 King's Road, Chelsea. Set against one of London's most storied live-music backdrops, the evening marks a major milestone for FENIX360 as it expands its global footprint and brings its community-driven mission directly to the UK music scene.

Built on a foundation of empowerment, FENIX360 is more than a platform—it is an ecosystem designed to give artists control over their careers while fostering genuine community. Its live events under the FENIX Rising banner have become known for thoughtfully curated lineups, genre-spanning discovery, and an unmistakable sense of purpose. Each show places artistry front and center, creating an environment where music is experienced, not just consumed.

The UK debut brings that same ethos to a new cultural landscape rich with musical history and forward-thinking creativity. By launching in the UK, FENIX360 bridges transatlantic scenes, creating new opportunities for collaboration, visibility, and artistic exchange between British and international artists. It's a move that reflects the platform's global vision—one that recognizes talent knows no borders.

At the helm of this expansion is FENIX360 CEO Allan Klepfisz, whose commitment to redefining the artist economy has positioned the company at the forefront of music innovation. The UK launch reinforces FENIX360's belief that artists deserve sustainable tools, fair compensation, and stages that honor their voices.
