

KAV Health Group Expands Treatment Services Across Ohio to Address Substance Use and Mental Health Challenges

SIDNEY, OH, UNITED STATES, February 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- KAV Health Group today announced a significant expansion of its treatment and recovery services across Ohio to address a growing and increasingly complex set of substance use and behavioral health challenges impacting individuals, couples, and families throughout the region.

Over the past year, KAV has seen a steady rise in clients seeking help for substances that are often misunderstood, under-treated, or addressed too late — including synthetic opioids, polysubstance use, and emerging street-drug trends. In response, KAV has expanded its clinical programs, recovery housing network, and integrated healthcare services to better reflect the realities clients are facing today.

“We’re seeing the landscape change quickly,” said Joe Sullivan, Outreach Coordinator for KAV Health Group. “Rather than forcing people into one-size-fits-all solutions, we’ve built programs that reflect what our clients are actually struggling with right now — including fentanyl, xylazine, stimulants, and complex dual-diagnosis cases.”

Expanded Substance Use Treatment Programs

KAV’s newly expanded treatment offerings include evidence-based, individualized care for:

Fentanyl Use Disorder

Kratom Use Disorder

Alcohol Use Disorder

Methamphetamine Use Disorder

Cocaine Use Disorder
Xylazine Use Disorder

With fentanyl continuing to drive overdose risk across Ohio, KAV has strengthened its Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT), dual-diagnosis support, and recovery stabilization pathways to improve outcomes for individuals struggling with opioid dependency.

Programs are designed to address overlapping substance use, mental health disorders, trauma, and life-stability challenges — ensuring clients receive coordinated, long-term recovery support.

Izzy's House Recovery Housing Network Expands

As part of the organization's continued growth, KAV Health Group operates Izzy's House, an OHMAS-certified sober living network serving men, women, and couples across multiple Ohio communities.
