announced the expansion of its AI-powered intelligence capabilities. Ignite AI now enables users to generate, consolidate and surface insights spanning industry sizing, company financials, forecasting, location and sales volume information. At the touch of a button, this AI tool delivers thoughtful analysis and supporting visualizations, including customized charts and graphs.

This powerful new data agent allows foodservice manufacturers, operators and industry professionals to generate data-backed answers to their specific questions, pulling data from across their entire personalized subscriptions, easily accessible using one tool. With greater speed and precision, users can now explore new market opportunities, evaluate competitive landscapes, identify growth segments and uncover operator targets with greater speed and precision.

"Ignite AI allows our clients access to our expert-backed insights more quickly and easily than ever before," said Bernadette Noone, executive vice president, products and programs at Technomic. "We are thrilled to empower our clients with this cutting-edge technology."
