Instacoins Travel, accessible at www.instacoins.travel, is designed for a new wave of globally mobile customers who expect flexibility, speed and borderless transactions. The platform allows travellers to pay for flights, stays and curated experiences directly in crypto, bringing real-world utility to digital assets.

As cryptocurrency adoption matures, more holders are seeking practical ways to use their assets beyond trading. Travel represents one of the most natural and in-demand applications.

Instacoins Travel is built specifically for:

- Crypto holders seeking real-life use cases
- Digital natives and remote professionals
- International travellers navigating cross-border banking friction

Payments should reflect today's reality. We give travellers the freedom to book with the assets they hold, while giving partners access to a growing crypto-enabled customer base."

Ahead of ITB Berlin, Instacoins Travel has introduced several key platform upgrades designed to improve the user experience and expand global access:

- Integrated experiences booking alongside flights and accommodation
- Improved user interface and streamlined navigation
- Enhanced search and filtering for both stays and experiences

- A more seamless checkout flow
- Expanded destination coverage and travel content
- Inclusion of additional cryptocurrencies (BTC, ETH, USDC, USDT, SOL & TRX)

These updates strengthen Instacoins Travel's position as a crypto-friendly OTA that mirrors the familiarity of traditional booking platforms while offering the flexibility of digital asset payments.

Instacoins Travel's presence at ITB Berlin reflects its commitment to innovation within the travel sector. The primary objective is to increase brand visibility as a crypto-enabled booking platform and to establish strategic partnerships with airlines, hotels, destination management companies and experience providers interested in reaching a digitally native, global audience.

"Instacoins Travel is committed to providing a seamless booking experience for modern travellers," said Natalie Ruggier, Head of Travel at Instacoins. "Our platform offers a wide range of travel options, including flights, hotels, and more, all accessible through a user-friendly interface. We are excited to be part of ITB Berlin and to connect with industry partners and travellers alike."

Instacoins Travel continues to position itself as a forward-thinking OTA, combining secure crypto payments with a seamless booking experience for modern travellers.
