“Fifteen years in practice has reinforced one thing for me, every person deserves a strong and unwavering defense,” said Michael Bixon. “Being accused of a crime can turn someone’s world upside down in an instant. My goal is to step in immediately, protect my client’s rights, and fight for their future from day one.”

Bixon Law handles a wide range of criminal defense matters, including:

- Drug possession charges

- Theft crimes
- DUI and other serious offenses

Michael Bixon has secured favorable outcomes for clients facing charges ranging from misdemeanors to the most severe felony accusations, including dismissals in cases involving violent crime allegations and major drug offenses.

“Every case deserves attention, preparation, and a defense strategy tailored to the individual,” Bixon added. “I don’t believe in treating people like case numbers. I believe in treating them like human beings who deserve a real chance to be heard.”

Courtroom Experience and National Media Insight

In addition to his work in the courtroom, Michael Bixon has gained recognition through appearances on CourtTV, where he has provided legal insight and commentary on high-profile criminal cases. His media presence reflects a deep understanding of criminal law, trial strategy, and the realities defendants face within the justice system.

“CourtTV gives the public a window into how complex criminal cases really are,” said Bixon. “But what matters most to me is applying that knowledge and experience directly to the people here in Atlanta who need a strong defense when everything is on the line.”

Commitment to Clients, 24/7 Support, and Fair Representation

Known for being accessible and client-focused, Bixon emphasizes communication and support throughout the legal process.

"When someone is facing any kind of criminal accusation, fear and uncertainty come with it," Bixon said. "My job is to bring clarity, guidance, and aggressive advocacy so my clients never feel like they're facing the system alone."
