PLUSnxt Earns Its Energy Industry Competency From Relativity

Drawing on its team’s experience and well-defined processes, PLUS supports energy clients in optimizing workflows and managing discovery and review with RelativityOne. This approach helps deliver efficient, auditable and consistent results with clear, verifiable context—enabling faster outcomes while reducing cost and complexity.

To earn the Energy Industry Competency, the PLUS team met a series of key requirements, including participating in thought leadership initiatives and demonstrating a strong track record of supporting client needs. Their teams have hands-on experience supporting energy engagements and applying RelativityOne in ways that deliver measurable results, reinforced through case studies and client testimonials.

"This competency reflects our focus on delivering real value for energy clients—using RelativityOne to reduce risk, control cost and produce defensible results in highly complex matters." said Gary Bendel, President and COO of PLUSnxt.

For energy clients, PLUS delivers streamlined and defensible discovery workflows tailored to the demands of energy matters. This approach prioritizes efficiency and reliability, helping reduce time and cost compared to traditional discovery methods.
