

Torsten Blaschke Appointed New CFO at congatec

Seasoned Finance Executive Strengthens International Market Position

SAN DIEGO, CA, UNITED STATES, February 18, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- congatec – the leading vendor of embedded and edge computing technology – is strengthening its management team with the appointment of Torsten Blaschke as Chief Financial Officer (CFO). In his new role, he will support congatec’s continued globalization and market leadership while driving the company’s global growth.

Torsten Blaschke joins the executive leadership team alongside CEO Dominik Ressing and COO & CTO Konrad Garhammer, bringing decades of management experience from leading companies across a range of industries. Most recently, Blaschke served as Group CFO of the service provider doctari group. Prior to that, he spent nearly 20 years in senior leadership roles at the consulting firm EY.

Blaschke brings his many years of expertise to help advance congatec as a global player. “congatec already stands for technological excellence, innovation, and a broad, future-oriented portfolio of embedded computing technologies. My goal is to further strengthen congatec, establish new business models, and steadily increase profitability. I am very much looking forward to financially steering the market

“As CEO of congatec, I am pleased to welcome Torsten Blaschke to our company and look forward to working with him,” said Dominik Rissing. “With his many years of leadership experience in international organizations, Torsten adds valuable strategic and financial expertise to our innovation and technology strengths. He will support us in addressing markets in a more targeted manner and in building sustainable business models that deliver even greater value to our customers in automation, medical technology, robotics, transportation, energy, and communications. We are gaining a CFO who will secure our market position financially and sustainably expand and strengthen congatec’s market leadership,” Rissing said.

Konrad Garhammer, COO & CTO of congatec, added: “With Torsten’s expertise, we will be able to further expand our aReady. portfolio, comprising application-ready hardware and software building blocks as well as services. This will enable us to provide our embedded computing customers with more and easier-to-use value-added offerings in areas such as AI, security, and ruggedness - helping them further enhance the value, business models, and time-to-dollar of their applications.”
