First fully transactable modernization accelerator strengthens KPI's Microsoft alignment and simplifies enterprise procurement.

OAKLAND, CA, UNITED STATES, February 23, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- KPI Partners today announced that its Oracle BI to Power BI Migration Accelerator is now live as a transactable offer on the Microsoft Azure Marketplace. This milestone marks KPI's first commercially transactable accelerator on Azure and reinforces its strategic alignment within the Microsoft ecosystem.

The accelerator enables enterprises to migrate from legacy Oracle BI environments to Microsoft Power BI using a structured, repeatable framework designed to accelerate modernization while reducing implementation complexity.

By making the solution available directly through Microsoft Azure Marketplace, KPI simplifies procurement and aligns its modernization capabilities with enterprise cloud consumption models.

Advancing Product-Led Modernization on Microsoft Azure:

The Azure Marketplace listing represents a significant step in KPI's evolution from traditional services delivery to product-led transformation. Customers can now discover, evaluate, and procure KPI's migration accelerator directly through their existing Azure subscription.

This shift positions KPI as more than a systems integrator. It establishes the company as a provider of deployable, repeatable modernization accelerators built for scalable enterprise adoption within the Microsoft cloud ecosystem.

What This Means for Enterprise Customers

The transactable listing delivers tangible benefits:

- Simplified procurement through existing Azure subscriptions
- Consolidated billing via Microsoft

This model reduces purchasing friction and accelerates analytics modernization initiatives while leveraging existing Microsoft investments.
