This growing demand for spiritually grounded storytelling sets the stage for the release of a compelling new faith-driven film titled The Present Help, a cinematic production poised to deeply move audiences and spark meaningful conversations about faith beyond human limitations.

About the Film

The Present Help tells the gripping story of a renowned doctor celebrated for saving lives through medical expertise, yet firmly rooted in science alone. His convictions are shaken when his own family faces a life-threatening crisis that medicine cannot solve.

As the situation spirals beyond human control, he is confronted with a question that challenges everything he believes:

When science fails, where does hope come from?

Through emotionally rich storytelling and powerful performances, the film explores the intersection of faith, humanity, and divine intervention — reminding viewers that there is a Help beyond human skill and knowledge.

The film stars celebrated Nollywood actor Richard Mofe-Damijo (RMD) in the lead role, bringing depth and authenticity to this spiritually stirring narrative.
