

Scorpio Productions and Award-Winning Filmmaker Bryan Huynh Expand Creative Partnership Across Music and Film

Following multiple film festival honors and original song recognition, the collaboration continues with several upcoming award-winning projects

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, June 30, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Scorpio Productions announces the continued expansion of its film and visual media portfolio through an ongoing collaboration with award-winning filmmaker and screenwriter Bryan Huynh, further positioning Scorpio as a trusted music resource for directors and narrative-driven film projects.

The collaboration builds on Scorpio's contributions to Huynh's 2025 short film The Step Between Us, which has earned multiple national and international accolades, including Best Director and Best Young Actor at the New Jersey Film Awards and Best Actress Short Film at the Sweden Film Awards. The film was recently screened at the Culver City Film Festival, where Scorpio-affiliated creatives experienced their names on the big screen and heard their original music presented prominently in a theatrical setting alongside the film.

Music for The Step Between Us played a central role in shaping the project's emotional arc, with original songs contributing to the film's narrative depth. One of the featured songs, Over, recently earned Semi-Finalist recognition for Best Original Song, further highlighting Scorpio's growing presence at the intersection of music and film.

As the partnership continues, Scorpio Productions will collaborate with Huynh across multiple upcoming projects, including the romantic comedy short "Don't Break Any Hearts" which began production in April 2026, and "The Gift Hidden in the Unknown" (2027), both of which have already received screenwriting recognition from several international film festivals.

Through this multi-project collaboration, Scorpio is expanding its repertoire as a long-term creative partner for filmmakers, offering original compositions, soundtrack development, and curated selections from its growing catalog. Rather than focusing on single placements, Scorpio's approach emphasizes sustained collaboration, allowing music to be developed in direct conversation with story, character, and visual tone.

"Experiencing our work in a theatrical environment and seeing it resonate with live audiences reinforces the direction we're moving in," said a representative from Scorpio Productions. "These moments affirm our commitment to building a catalog and creative process that serves filmmakers at a deeper level."

Music has been used to enhance performances since the beginning of time. It's an honor to work with the immensely talented Bryan Huynh to bring his theatrical visions to life through the art of song."
