

Prepared Canada Corp. Releases Monthly Content Update Featuring New Videos and Articles

Prepared Canada released four long-form weekly videos and articles, and multiple YouTube Shorts throughout the last month.

MISSISSAUGA, ON, CANADA, February 25, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Prepared Canada Corp.. has released its monthly content update, outlining new video, short-form, and written materials published across its digital platforms.

New Video Content

February features a wide variety of topics from viewer requests. The interest towards preparedness is always good to see. Come let us know if you have any topic you wish for us to explore.”

Alex Vezina, Prepared Canada CEO

As part of its weekly publishing schedule, Prepared Canada released five long-form videos addressing topics related to public policy, crisis management, analytical reasoning, and Canadian regulatory issues:

□ “There is no such thing as a Natural Disaster”
<https://youtu.be/0wo21YEt7Hk>

This video outlines the UNDRR’s #NoNaturalDisasters campaign, providing insight into what truly defines a “Disaster” in the field of Disaster Management.

□ A Range of Topics through a Risk Management

Perspective

https://youtu.be/Gmca3_RW7Qc

This video involves introspective discussion of several topics:

- Hostile/Anti-Homeless Architecture

- McDonald's Ice Cream Machines
- Drag Queen Reading Hour
- Arguing a Negative

□ What is Global Warming

https://youtu.be/_VGuD4T_cQ

This video defines important concepts that build into Global Warming in a concise format palatable to most individuals.

□ The Claim that 'Men are Afraid of Giving CPR to Women'

https://youtu.be/9CggdgiWn_4

This video is a response to a recent petition being released pursuing the mandatory addition of female manikins to First Aid training through insight of someone with the experience of both a First Aid Instructor and Disaster Risk Reduction expert.

□ 14 Minutes and 4 seconds of Assembling First Aid CPR Manikins

<https://youtu.be/ZEE55-0qrso>

This is a complimentary video to the petition-addressing one prior, displaying the literal amount of time and effort it takes to assemble just 12 manikins.

The image shows two screenshots from Prepared Canada. The top screenshot is the website's 'Articles' page, featuring a navigation menu with 'Home', 'Services', 'Equipment & Supplies', 'Media/News', 'Articles', 'Resources', and 'Contact Us'. The main content area is titled 'Articles' and displays a featured article: 'Are women dying because men are afraid of breasts?' by Ann Veitch, published 8 hours ago. Below this is a video player showing a man performing CPR on a manikin. The bottom screenshot is the YouTube channel page for 'Prepared Canada', which has 97 subscribers and 113 videos. The channel banner reads 'By failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail'. The video grid shows 12 shorts with titles such as 'afraid of touching', 'One cannot have', 'How do you see color?', 'C02 Equivalents', 'Experts can forget how to explain things to th...', 'How long does Bob have if a chatbot bre...', 'You know that's', 'like your hands', 'Okay but we', 'spice up this', 'put liquid in', 'Prove to me you are not a chair.', 'What happens when a frozen person is taken...', 'The Problem with "Prove me wrong."', 'Drag Queen Reading Hour', 'How to give fluids to someone who can't st...', and 'Defining "Disaster"'. Each video thumbnail includes a view count.

These videos form part of Prepared Canada's ongoing effort to provide independent analysis and commentary on current events and systemic challenges.

Short-Form Video Releases

In addition to long-form videos, Prepared Canada published multiple YouTube Shorts throughout the month. These short-form videos include highlights from the organization's initial platform launch as well as the newly released long-form content.

The full collection of short-form videos is available at:

<https://www.youtube.com/@PreparedCanada/shorts>

Website Articles

Prepared Canada also published four weekly articles on its website during the month. Three articles expand upon themes explored in recent videos, while another focuses on a separate international and policy-related topic:

□ No Such Thing as Natural Disasters

<https://www.prepared.ca/post/no-such-thing-as-natural-disasters>

This article discusses the UNDRR's #NoNaturalDisasters campaign, further defining what a "Disaster" is in the field of Disaster Management and introducing additional commentary.

□ Local Power Generation and Small-Scale Grids

<https://www.prepared.ca/post/local-power-generation-and-small-scale-grids>

This article mentions the potential of using small-scale electrical grids accompanied by explanation of how large power grids function comparatively.

□ What is Global Warming?

<https://www.prepared.ca/post/what-is-global-warming>

This article provides in-depth, yet easily understandable explanations of the basics of Global Warming.

□ Are Women Dying Because Men Are Afraid of Breasts?

<https://www.prepared.ca/post/are-women-dying-because-men-are-afraid-of-breasts>

This article explores a women's health petition in the United Kingdom and the reaction to it on the internet.

Prepared Canada Corp. plans to continue releasing new video and written content on a weekly basis.

Prepared Canada's monthly updates aim to educate and inform Canadians on important topics related to emergency preparedness, risk and continuity.

With a focus on providing valuable and relevant information, the update serves as a valuable resource for individuals, families, businesses, and communities to stay prepared for any emergency.

For more information, visit www.prepared.ca or subscribe to Prepared Canada's YouTube channel for weekly updates.

Prepared Canada Corp.

Prepared Canada Corp.

email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/895317960>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2026 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.