“Since 2005, we’ve built IntraTEM as a privately owned, founder-led company. That gives us the ability to think long term, make principled decisions, and invest in our people and culture without outside pressure. This certification means a lot to us. As we grow, it’s important that we don’t lose what made us strong in the first place — a culture where our team feels valued, supported, and proud of the work we do.”

— Dimitry Malinsky, Founder & CEO, IntraTEM

In recent years, IntraTEM has experienced significant growth. Throughout that expansion, leadership has placed increased emphasis on employee engagement, professional development, and maintaining a high-trust environment, ensuring culture strengthens alongside business performance.
