A Sampling of New Flavors

Chamomile

Part of the same plant family as daisies and sunflowers, this petite flower is used across the globe in herbal teas and infusions. Chamomile tea has long been used in many herbal traditions to soothe the body and spirit.

Lemongrass

Lemongrass is a fibrous, tough grass native to Southeast Asia commonly consumed as a tea to cool the body in the sweltering tropical heat. In addition to drinking lemongrass as a tea, this aromatic herb has a wide number of applications in Southeast Asian culinary tradition. True to its name, lemongrass tea has a lemony flavor, but with an extra herbaceous quality.

Ashwagandha

The use of Ashwagandha root originates from Ayurvedic herbal traditions. It is believed in Ayurvedic traditional herbalism to be able to increase energy and reduce the effects of emotional and mental stress.

Fourteen new flavors in all—make sure you stop by Booth # F49 at the Fresh Ideas Organic Marketplace at EXPO West on March 3 to learn more and taste the teas. For updates on the new flavors, stay connected with Bravo Tea on Facebook, IG and Tik Tok.
