Located in the Atlantic Village professional complex at 800 N Federal Hwy in Hallandale Beach, the facility is positioned between Miami and Fort Lauderdale to serve clients seeking natural-looking results backed by medical expertise, diagnostic technology, and personalized care.

Where Aesthetic Confidence Meets Whole-Person Wellness

Under the vision of founder Nino Bogat, who brings 15 years of wellness and aesthetic industry experience, the practice operates under physician supervision with a team of licensed medical professionals who understand the connection between aesthetic confidence and overall well-being.

Bogat's approach recognizes that treatments designed to refresh appearance can support broader wellness goals—many clients report feeling less stressed, more energized, and more motivated to prioritize their health. When paired with internal support through hormone optimization, IV nutrition, and metabolic programs, the result is a coordinated experience where aesthetic care and wellness protocols work together.

“We kept hearing the same thing from people: ‘I want to look refreshed, but I also want to feel better from the inside out.’ That’s what shaped everything we do here—the treatments, the wellness programs, even the way we designed the space. It’s all built around that connection between looking good and genuinely feeling good.”
