About the Author

Tony Jeton Selimi is a seven-time international bestselling author, TEDx speaker, acclaimed filmmaker, and globally recognized life strategist and business coach specializing in human behavior—dubbed by some as the “Dior of personal and professional development.” Born with crooked legs in Gostivar, North Macedonia, Tony Jeton Selimi survived abuse, bullying, and the atrocities of civil war. At age 20, having narrowly escaped conflict, he arrived homeless in London—alone, with no safety net. Determined to rewrite his destiny, Tony worked multiple jobs to fund his education, support his family, and begin healing deep emotional wounds.

Despite the odds, he graduated with honors from University College London, then led multi-billion-pound digital transformation programs across the public and private sectors. Yet, Tony felt a calling bigger than tech—one grounded in purpose and people.

Tony’s proprietary frameworks—TJS Evolutionary Method: ALARM®, Behavioral Change Principles, The Unfakeable Code® Five-Step Method for Authentic Living, Leading and Loving, Values Clarification and Alignment Process, Octagon of Excellence®—guide readers through healing, identity reclamation, and powerful performance.

Tony has shared his message on the TEDx stage (“Technological Armageddon”—over a million views), at the United Nations, the UK Parliament, Cranfield University, and the London Business Show. With over 1,000 media appearances (BBC, ABC, NBC, Fox, Sky, Hay House), he continues to ignite change at scale. His work seamlessly blends neuroscience, spirituality, behavioral science, and leadership strategy. Learn more at www.tonyselimi.com.
