About The Institute for Faith & Culture:

The Institute for Faith & Culture exists to equip Christians for this cultural moment to be salt and light in their sphere of influence, through the creation and curation of Biblical worldview resources, practical and leadership training, and by connecting the body of Christ for the advancement of the Kingdom on Earth as it is in Heaven.

With biblical literacy at an all-time low, and a disconnect between biblical belief and faithful action, the Institute for Faith & Culture is uniquely positioned to bring the hope of the Gospel and the mind of Christ to the chaos and confusion of an upside down world.

In an era that is in many ways adamantly opposed to the gospel, the Institute for Faith and Culture proclaims that Christ is King, that the gospel is the good news that affects every sector of society and sphere of culture, and that the triumph of secularism is not inevitable—in fact, secularism will assuredly see its eventual demise.
