

TrippyLove9k Donates to Noah's Anchorage YMCA, Expanding Commitment to Youth and Community Impact

The purpose-driven creative platform supports youth homelessness prevention while expanding its mission of art, community, and impact.

SANTA BARBARA, CA, UNITED STATES, March 6, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TrippyLove9k, the creative platform founded to honor the legacy of Dominic Lorenzi, has made a meaningful donation to Noah's Anchorage YMCA in Santa Barbara, reinforcing its commitment to community support, youth empowerment, and compassionate action.

Supporting their mission aligns directly with why TrippyLove9k exists — to transform love into momentum and create tangible impact.”

Allison Callis

TrippyLove9k was born from Dominic Lorenzi's art, music, and personal expression. What began as a deeply personal tribute has evolved into a collaborative ecosystem where art, fashion, music, and entrepreneurship intersect with purpose. Central to the platform's mission is the belief that creativity, community, and compassion are inseparable — and that giving back is foundational, not optional.

The recent donation supports Noah's Anchorage YMCA, a licensed youth homelessness prevention center that has served Santa Barbara County for nearly 50 years. The organization provides trauma-informed, strength-based services for youth ages 12–17 who are homeless, at risk of homelessness, have run away, or are experiencing unsafe living conditions. “Noah's Anchorage is doing critical, life-changing work for young people in our community,” said representatives of TrippyLove9k. “Supporting their mission aligns directly with why TrippyLove9k exists — to transform love into momentum and create tangible impact.”
