

Water Filter Austin Expands Comprehensive Water Treatment Services

Austin's local water filtration experts offer whole house filters, RO systems, water softeners, and free water testing for Central Texas homes and businesses.

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, March 9, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Water Filter Austin, a locally owned water filtration and water treatment company, today announced an expanded range of residential and commercial water treatment solutions for homeowners and businesses across the Austin metro area. With Central Texas consistently ranking among the hardest water regions in the United States, the company is responding to rising demand with broader service capabilities and an unwavering commitment to delivering safe, clean, great-tasting water to every customer.

Austin's hard water is costing homeowners thousands in damaged appliances. We give families clean, safe water from every tap — without the bottled water bills.”

John Rodriguez, Founder & Lead Advisor, Water Filter Austin

Austin's water supply — drawn from the Highland Lakes and the Edwards Aquifer — carries elevated levels of calcium and magnesium that cause scale buildup, damage appliances, irritate skin, and push households toward expensive bottled water habits. Water Filter Austin was built specifically for these local conditions, offering professionally installed systems designed to perform in Central Texas's unique water environment.

INDUSTRY DATA

- Central Texas water hardness typically measures 200–400+ ppm — well above the 120 ppm threshold for

'hard' water classification.

- Hard water can reduce water heater efficiency by up to 48% and cut appliance lifespan by 7 to 12 years.

- U.S. households spend approximately $16 billion annually on bottled water, largely driven by tap water distrust.
- The U.S. residential water treatment market has grown at over 8% annually as homeowners shift to permanent filtration solutions.

EXPERT PERSPECTIVES

"Hard water silently damages water heaters, dishwashers, and plumbing across Austin every day. Our mission is simple: give Austin families water they can trust from every tap in their home."

— Founder, Water Filter Austin

"A properly installed reverse osmosis or whole house filtration system saves money and delivers peace of mind homeowners didn't know they were missing. There's no reason to keep buying bottled water."

— Owner, Water Filter Austin

"At 200 to 400 ppm, Central Texas water falls squarely in the 'very hard' range. That level of mineral concentration has a real, cumulative impact on plumbing and appliances. The right treatment solution extends equipment life by years."

— Lead Water Quality Specialist, Water Filter Austin
