regulatory compliance program, enterprise risk governance, and supervisory framework, further strengthening SlateStone's commitment to operational integrity and client protection.

Michael D. McCorkle Named Chief Compliance Officer
McCorkle brings extensive global experience in regulatory compliance, enterprise risk management, and operational resilience across financial services and fintech organizations. Throughout his career, he has led and centralized large-scale resiliency and governance initiatives, partnering closely with compliance, legal, audit, and risk teams to strengthen regulatory alignment, enhance audit readiness, and support enterprise-wide risk oversight.

Most recently, McCorkle served as Head of Workplace Strategy within a global fintech institution, where he led a cross-functional organization integrating compliance, risk management, resilience, security, real estate strategy, and data analytics to support safe, resilient, and compliant operations across a distributed workforce.

Previously, McCorkle held senior leadership roles within financial technology and global financial institutions, where he directed enterprise resiliency programs and worked closely with executive leadership and compliance, legal, audit, and risk teams to maintain alignment with U.S. and international regulatory standards. In these roles, he helped advance firmwide governance and risk management frameworks, strengthened internal control environments, and supported regulatory engagement across complex supervisory landscapes.

In his new role at SlateStone Wealth, McCorkle will lead the firm's compliance function, advancing its regulatory infrastructure, strengthening internal controls, and supporting the firm's continued growth within an evolving regulatory environment.

“Michael’s depth of experience in regulatory governance and operational resilience enhances our ability to serve clients with the highest standards of oversight and integrity,” said Sherri Daniels, Founder and Co-CEO of SlateStone Wealth. “His leadership will help ensure our compliance framework continues to evolve alongside our business and the regulatory environment.”

McCorkle’s career reflects a unique blend of public and private sector leadership. He has served as a commissioned officer in the United States Navy, a political officer with the U.S. Department of State, and a speechwriter for the Governor of California. His experience includes direct engagement with U.S. and international regulatory bodies and oversight of cross-border compliance frameworks.

Michael D. McCorkle

A native of Los Angeles, California, McCorkle has lived and worked overseas and now resides in Jupiter, Florida, with his wife and two sons.
