

Avi-Go Launches Avi-Go.AI, Building the Intelligence Layer for Business Aviation

Discover Avi-Go.AI, Avi-Go's upcoming AI-native platform for smarter business aviation intelligence, analysis, and workflow automation.

SINGAPORE, April 2, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In business aviation, competitive advantage is no longer defined only by access to data. It is defined by the ability to turn complexity into clear, actionable decisions.

Today, Avi-Go announces the upcoming launch of Avi-Go.AI, an AI-native platform built specifically for the business aviation industry.

Built for the real needs of business aviation professionals, the platform combines:

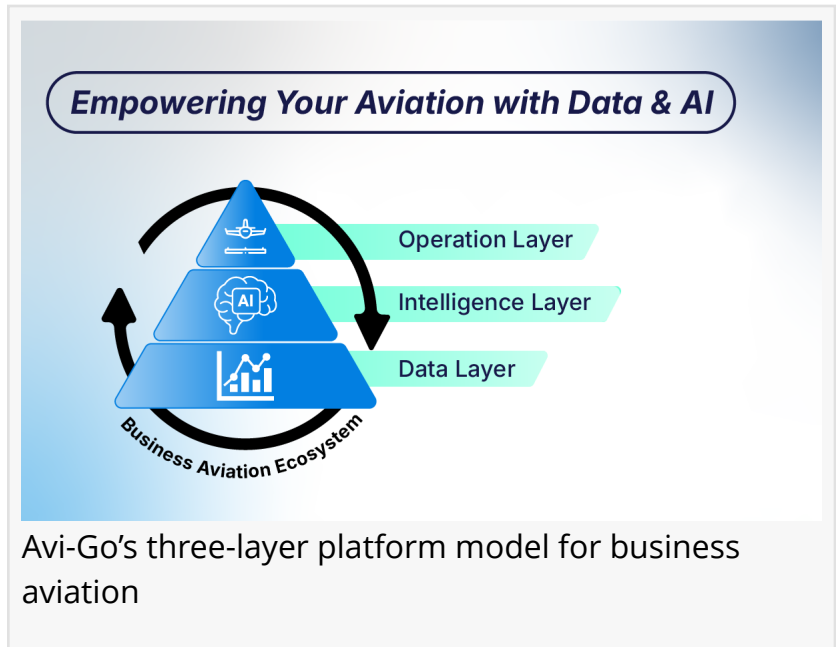

- The execution power of AI agents
- The depth of a financial-grade data platform
- The clarity of a strategic consulting firm

Unlike general-purpose AI tools, Avi-Go.AI is designed around real operational and commercial workflows across the industry. Its capabilities include:

- Regional market intelligence and growth analysis
- Event-driven demand forecasting
- Operator 360° performance analysis
- Airport traffic and utilization insights

- Fleet composition and route network analysis
- Real-time aircraft tracking and historical flight analysis
- Charter trip planning and automation
- Empty leg matching and optimization
- Intelligent quote assistance
- ESG reporting through an integrated carbon emissions calculator

These workflows help brokers, operators, and other business aviation stakeholders make faster, more informed decisions while significantly reducing manual effort.

“Avi-Go.AI represents a fundamental shift in how intelligence is accessed and applied in business aviation,” said Colin, CEO and Founder of Avi-Go.

“We are moving beyond dashboards and static reports. Avi-Go.AI enables professionals to interact directly with aviation intelligence in a way that is faster, deeper, and more contextual than generic AI tools can deliver.” He added.

In addition to answering questions, Avi-Go.AI also serves as a productivity platform for business aviation professionals. It supports:

- Automated data analysis
- Instant document and report generation
- Proactive insight discovery

By embedding intelligence directly into daily workflows, Avi-Go.AI helps users operate with greater speed, confidence, and precision.
