

Wiktis Launches First All-in-One Exhibition Management Platform with 0% Platform Fees

50+ exhibition management tools in one workspace with zero platform fees on ticketing, booth sales, and sponsorship revenue.

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, April 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Wiktis \(wiktis.com\) has launched and is now expanding across North America, Australia, the United Kingdom, and the Asia-Pacific region as the first all-in-one exhibition management platform to offer zero platform fees on all ticket, booth, and sponsorship sales.

Exhibition and trade show organisers are stuck duct-taping together spreadsheets, payment platforms, and inbox bookings. Wiktis replaces all of that with one purpose-built workspace.”

Kevin Mack, Founder of Wiktis

The platform gives trade show, convention, and expo organisers a complete workspace with over 50 integrated tools. Organisers can set up a custom event URL and have booths, tickets, and sponsorships on sale within minutes.

Wiktis covers the full exhibition lifecycle in one place: vendor application management with a built-in exhibitor approval process, booth sales, drag-and-drop floor plan design, attendee ticketing with QR check-in, sponsor sales pipeline, stage and programming timetable builder, food and beverage brief coordination, security and risk assessment planning, and a complete finance suite. The platform also includes email marketing tools, paid advertising analytics, and brand asset management — replacing the need for separate project management, marketing, and budgeting tools.

Unlike existing platforms that take three to eight percent of every transaction, Wiktis charges zero platform fees on all sales. For an organiser processing half a million dollars in annual revenue across ticketing, booth sales, and sponsorships, that represents a saving of up to $40,000 per year.

The platform includes purpose-built utilities for measuring event profitability in minutes, including booth fitout costs and margins, venue space costs, and food, beverage, and liquor profit calculators. A built-in event timeline replaces the need for standalone project management tools like Monday.com or Asana, keeping the entire production schedule inside the same workspace as sales, logistics, and finance.

Wiktis is purpose-built for organisers running a single show all the way up to a portfolio of 20 or more events per year. Multi-event dashboards allow operators to manage their full calendar from one account, with year-over-year event data retained across seasons. The platform offers a free tier for organisers getting started, with paid plans from $199 to $899 per month. All paid tiers include a 14-day free trial with full access.
