As chair of QMUNITY's capital campaign, Koshul played a key leadership role in raising funds for a new purpose-built 2SLGBTQ+ community centre in Vancouver. The campaign surpassed its original $3.2 million goal, helping ensure long-term access to vital services for thousands of people.

In addition to this work, Koshul has contributed to the Dr. Peter Centre's Pride Kickoff event, which has raised approximately $500,000 over five years, and supported Ballet BC as co-chair of its Ambassador Group, helping grow community engagement and support for the arts.

“Sid’s leadership reflects the best of what it means to be a Realtor,” said Raman Bayanzadeh, GVR chair. “His ability to connect people, inspire giving, and create lasting impact in the community embodies the spirit of the REALTORS Care® Award.”

Koshul’s approach to giving back is rooted in personal connection and a strong sense of purpose. He’s passionate about supporting causes that foster inclusion, provide essential services, and strengthen the social fabric of our communities.

Beyond fundraising, Koshul expanded networks of support that will continue to benefit these organizations for years to come.
