The Smile Trial program was developed to address a growing demand for accessible dental consultations and treatment planning. Local market data and internal performance tracking indicate a consistent increase in patient inquiries for cosmetic procedures and preventive care, particularly as seasonal trends shift into spring and summer.

Patients today are looking for clarity before committing to treatment. The Smile Trial program provides a straightforward starting point for understanding options.”

Service Provider: Dr. Kelly Harness

The program provides patients with an initial evaluation, treatment roadmap, and discussion of available dental options, including cosmetic and general dentistry services. This structured process is intended to help patients better understand their oral health status and available treatment paths before committing to long-term care plans.

In recent months, Post Falls Family & Cosmetic Dental has observed increased engagement across both organic and paid search channels, alongside steady growth in patient conversions. These trends reflect broader shifts in how patients research and select dental providers, with a strong emphasis on transparency, accessibility, and clear treatment pathways.

Industry insights also suggest that patient decision-making is increasingly influenced by online visibility and localized search behavior. A significant portion of dental patients begin their search through platforms such as Google Maps, reinforcing the importance of localized service positioning and clear service offerings.

“Patients today are looking for clarity before committing to treatment,” said a representative of Post Falls Family & Cosmetic Dental. “The Smile Trial program was designed to create a straightforward starting point where individuals can understand their options and move forward at their own pace.”

The introduction of the Smile Trial program aligns with the practice’s broader focus on improving patient access to both cosmetic and general dental services. The initiative also supports ongoing efforts to raise awareness of services such as preventive care, restorative dentistry, and cosmetic treatments in the Post Falls and Coeur d’Alene areas.

Additional information about the Smile Trial program can be found on the practice’s website.
