The Problem Integration Services Address

Most growing companies don't have a tools problem. They have a connectivity problem. CRMs that don't sync with marketing platforms. Support tickets that never reach the sales team. Deals that close without triggering the next step in operations. The result is fragmented visibility, manual workarounds and forecasts built on incomplete data.

Growth doesn't fail from lack of tools. It fails due to a lack of integration.”

Boris Tsibelman

For lean revenue teams, that friction compounds quickly slowing response times, obscuring pipeline health and creating reporting gaps that are difficult to diagnose and expensive to fix after the fact.

What AXIS Delivers

AXIS Consulting's Integration Services are structured to move clients from disconnected systems to a clean, reliable data infrastructure without overhauling the tools already in place.

Engagements follow a defined three-phase process:

1. Discovery - Auditing current systems, identifying data owners, mapping existing workflows and defining reporting requirements.
2. Design - Building a detailed integration plan covering data flows, field alignment, automation logic and governance standards.
3. Implementation - Executing system-to-system connections, middleware configuration and API-based integrations, scoped to each client's stack and security requirements.

Post-launch support is included to monitor integration stability, resolve data sync issues before they surface in reporting, and adapt configurations as tools and processes change.

The offering is purpose-built for SMBs and growth-stage companies that are implementing new revenue tools, navigating a CRM migration, or operating with systems that were never properly connected in the first place. It is particularly well-suited for organizations that have outgrown point-and-click workarounds and need a structured, maintainable integration foundation.

AXIS Consulting's Integration Services are available immediately. Organizations interested in a discovery conversation can contact AXIS at axisconsulting.io.
