

Acclaim Reliability Solutions Adds Industry Veteran Eric Bradicich to Lead Business Development

Acclaim Reliability Solutions today announced that Eric Bradicich has joined the company as Senior Business Development Executive.

HOUSTON, TX, MEXICO, April 28, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Acclaim Reliability Solutions today announced that Eric Bradicich has joined the company as Senior Business Development Executive, bringing extensive experience in distributed generation and microgrid development across the Texas market.

Mr. Bradicich is a senior business development executive with a strong track record of originating, structuring, and closing complex energy transactions. He is known for building comprehensive programs that address the regulatory, commercial, and operational complexities of utility-scale distributed energy deployments.

He previously served as the originating executive and primary relationship owner for the H-E-B distributed generation portfolio, the largest standby-generation account in Texas at the time—representing a $40 million, multi-site deployment. He led the full commercial development of the program from origination through execution.

At Acclaim Reliability Solutions, Mr. Bradicich will lead complex customer engagements while helping scale the company's business development efforts as it expands its deployment model.

"Eric brings deep market expertise and a proven ability to execute at scale," said John D. Elder III, CEO of Acclaim Reliability Solutions.
