Season 2 marks a bold expansion for the series, taking Malorie and co-host and director Michael Maldonado across the globe in pursuit of the world's strangest legends, unique haunting histories, and most extraordinary destinations. From the Transylvanian countryside to the elf-filled landscapes of Iceland, from the witchy streets of Salem to the fairy tale forests of Germany, Season 2 delivers the most ambitious and wide-ranging run of episodes in the show's history.

We traveled to places I've wanted to explore for years, dug into stories that genuinely surprised us, and I think audiences are going to feel that sense of discovery in every episode.”

“We wanted Season 2 to feel like a real leap forward,” said Malorie Mackey. “We traveled to places I've wanted to explore for years, dug into stories that genuinely surprised us, and I think audiences are going to feel that sense of discovery in every episode.”

The 12-episode season includes Traversing Transylvania, in which Malorie follows the footsteps of Vlad Dracula from the salt mines of Cluj-Napoca to the legendary Bran Castle; The Gates to the Voodoo Underworld, an investigation into New Orleans' most enduring legend; a two-part exploration of Salem, Massachusetts and the history of the Witch Trials; and Discovering the Hidden Secrets of Iceland, which takes the hosts to elf school, inside a volcano, and through the world-famous Icelandic Phallogological Museum. The season also features Into the Woods: A Fairy Tale Tour of Germany; Memento Mori: Death and Innovation, a thematic exploration of how cultures around the world process death; and American Gothic: Following in the Footsteps of Edgar Allan Poe, filmed on location in Richmond, Virginia. The season closes with Weird Washington: Celebrating 250 Years of Independence, a love letter to the strange and unusual corners of the nation's capital.

Two standout episodes, Unveiling the Myths of the Great Smokys Parts 1 and 2, were filmed simultaneously with the mapping and writing of Malorie and Michael's book Haunted Hikes of the Great Smoky Mountains, creating a rare behind-the-scenes look at the creative process behind both projects. Part 1 currently holds a perfect 10/10 rating on IMDb, making it the highest-rated episode in the show's run.

Weird World Adventures is produced by Weird World Adventures LLC and directed by Richmond-native Michael Maldonado, an author, Explorers Club member, skeptic, and physician sub-specializing in neuroradiology. The series is available to stream now.
