

From teacher to $3 Million in Crafting and Now She's Teaching Others How to Do The Same

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, April 29, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Before she became the architect of a multi million dollar movement, Dr. Kylea Woodley Jones was a high school marketing teacher grading papers at her kitchen table and quietly questioning if there was more available to her. There was. What began as a small creative side hustle has now evolved into From Craft to Cash, a nationally recognized business education platform reshaping how everyday people approach creativity, income, and financial independence.

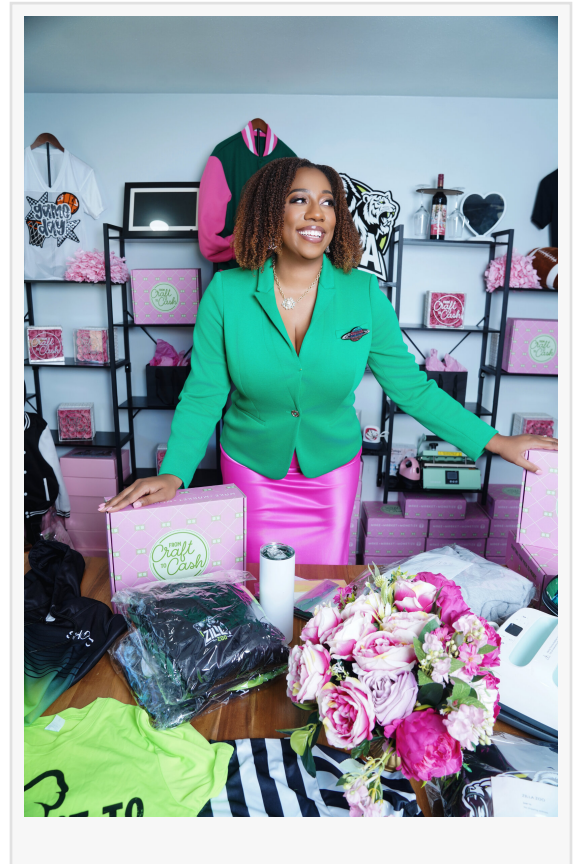

From teacher to 3 million in crafting and now she is teaching others how to do the same.

She turned passion into profit, a skill into a scalable business, and a dream into real revenue. Today, Dr. Woodley Jones has generated over 3 million dollars through crafting and digital education, building a business model that not only replaced her former salary but redefined what was possible.

Now, she generates consistent 100K months, earning in a single month what once took her an entire year in the classroom, and has positioned herself to help others do the same through structure, strategy, and execution. It stands as proof that one idea, consistency, and courage can build something bigger than most people ever imagine.

"I did not need another skill. I needed structure. So many people already have something valuable in their hands, but they are missing the strategy to turn it into real income. That is the gap I help close."

Dr. Woodley Jones's success is not luck. It is the result of applying marketing principles, consistency, and intentional business structure to a skill many people overlook. After years of teaching students how to think like marketers, she turned that same knowledge toward her own creativity and built a business that quickly outgrew the limits of traditional employment.

What she uncovered was a major opportunity. The crafting space is filled with talented individuals who know how to create but have never been taught how to sell, position, or scale. From Craft to Cash was built to bridge that gap.

The Collective Where Creators Become Earners

At the center of this movement is The Collective, a results driven membership designed for creators who are ready to turn their skills into consistent income and build something that lasts.

Kylea emphasizes that having the talent is only part of the equation. What truly creates results is having the right systems, support, and structure already in place so creators can move further, faster, without years of trial and error.

The Collective was designed to give creators exactly that. A space where they are not left to figure it out alone, but instead are equipped with done for you guidance, proven frameworks, and real time support that accelerates their growth.

Inside, members learn how to:

Turn their creativity into consistent and predictable cash flow

Price their work with confidence and intention

Attract buyers instead of chasing them

Build systems that create income beyond one time sales

Position themselves as strong and profitable brands

This community was created for the person who knows they are capable of more but is ready to stop guessing and start building with clarity and direction.

“You were created to create. But more importantly, you deserve to profit from it. You deserve to see your ideas turn into income.”

For those ready to take that next step, access to The Collective is available at <https://fromcrafttocash.org/>

Across the country, creators inside Kylea’s ecosystem are launching products, increasing their sales, and stepping into a level of ownership and confidence they did not have before.

This is not about small wins. It is about building real businesses that create freedom, flexibility, and financial independence.

As more people look for ways to generate income outside of traditional paths, Dr. Kylea Woodley

Jones is not simply part of the conversation. She is helping lead it by showing what is possible when creativity meets strategy.

From Craft to Cash is a business education platform founded by Dr. Kylea Woodley Jones, dedicated to helping crafters and creative entrepreneurs monetize their skills and build profitable and scalable businesses. Through digital resources, educational tools, and community based programming including The Collective, the brand provides the systems and support needed to turn creativity into consistent income.
