

Legal Focus Strengthens Support for Injured Workers' Claims

MINNEAPOLIS, MN, UNITED STATES, April 30, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Osterbauer, Harper & Furth LLP has refined its legal focus on Minnesota workers' compensation matters, with increased attention on denied claims, disputed benefits, employer retaliation, and serious workplace injury cases involving injured employees across the state.

Osterbauer Law Firm

Focused on injured workers rather than insurance companies, the update applies to individuals facing claim denials, appeals, wage loss concerns, medical benefit issues, rehabilitation questions, and workplace injury disputes. The firm's mission is to protect and advocate for injured workers across Minnesota while providing guidance during difficult periods.

Handling cases across Minneapolis, Saint Paul, the Twin Cities, Rochester, Duluth, and greater Minnesota remains part of the firm's current direction. Related legal services include workers' compensation claims, denied benefit matters, retaliation concerns, serious workplace injuries, and personal injury services as a secondary practice area.

Workers facing denied treatment, incorrect payments, stopped benefits, pressure to return before recovery, or uncertainty about available benefits remain central to the firm's work. The firm continues to use a contingency fee structure, meaning clients do not pay unless compensation is recovered. Digital visibility and client education efforts are also being strengthened to help injured workers find information about legal options, claim steps, and benefit issues.

About the Legal Practice: Osterbauer, Harper & Furth LLP represents injured workers in workers' compensation and related injury matters. The firm handles denied claims, appeals, workplace injury cases, employer retaliation concerns, PERA/MSRS disability claims, and personal injury matters.
