Duluth for its second year on Saturday, May 9, 2026, bringing an energetic mix of live music, cultural performances, and community experiences in celebration of Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) Heritage Month. Co-hosted in partnership with the City of Duluth, the free outdoor festival will take place from 3:30 PM to 9:30 PM at the Duluth Festival Center, inviting attendees from across the Atlanta area to experience a unique blend of modern and traditional AAPI cultures.

This year's program features a dynamic lineup of live performances, with a strong focus on live bands spanning a range of styles—from East-meets-West fusion rock and pop to indie, punk, and heavy metal. The festival will also showcase a traditional Chinese instrumental ensemble presenting contemporary fusion pieces, alongside K-pop dance performances and Hawaiian dance showcases reflecting both Asian and Pacific Islander cultural influences. In addition, the event will include a DJ set and appearance by anime rapper None Like Joshua, an artist with over 500,000 subscribers on YouTube, contributing to the festival's interactive and high-energy atmosphere.

Beyond the stage, attendees can explore a curated selection of cultural booths and local businesses representing the AAPI community. While the festival focuses on cultural experiences, visitors can also enjoy the vibrant dining scene in Downtown Duluth, with a variety of restaurants just steps away.

Building on its debut last year, AAPI Vibe Fest aims to grow into a signature cultural event in the Atlanta region—one that brings people together through music, creativity, and shared cultural experiences.

“AAPI Vibe Fest is about celebrating identity, creativity, and connection,” said the event organizer. “We’re excited to continue building a space where diverse communities can come together and experience something truly unique.”

The festival is made possible through the support of community partners and sponsors, including title sponsors United BMW and BMW of Gwinnett Place.
